“ There are so many times that I wish you were here. I wish that you were here every single day so I could hear your voice and giggle at your jokes, but in particular when life gets difficult and I could really use some advice. The quiet advice that you so diligently handed out, not only to your daughters, but also to others who needed your sound thought. People think thier grieving is a process and eventually I'll get over it, but the truth of the matter is that this is a mixed up mash of emotions, there's no 'process' and I know for a fact that I will never get over missing you and the very large hole that your absence has created in my life. I miss you. I love you

“ Dad, I remember many weekends when Kate and I would wake up before you and mom and our treat was to be quiet and be ble to watch cartoons. Winnie the Pooh was my favorite. This quote comes from there... "If ever there is a tomorrow when we're not together, there is something you must always remember: you are braver than you believe, stronger than you seem, and smarter than you think, but the most important thing is even if we are apart I'll always be with you."
I do feel you and see you around me. It may be as simple as seeing the beautiful cardinals that you and I adored so much, or a sense that I'm safe and being watched over. You let me know you're still around. What I wouldn't give to actually feel you and see you. I miss you, I love you.

“Dad, there are so many things left unsaid between you and me. My solid rock has vanished before my eyes, and one year later it hasn't gotten any easier to live without you. Without your smile, laugh, encouragement, advice, and love. I don't know how I rediscovers this, but you can be rest assured I'll be posting and talking to you here often! I miss you, I love you.

“ As a beginning sales rep for Eakes in 1987, the service dept. was a constant source of joy for me when I needed encouragement the most. I always looked forward to Brett's smile and his friendly way of making any situation seem funny and easier to handle. I am so sorry for your loss, I can only imagine what a wonderful family member he was, and look forward to hearing his laugh again in heaven.

“ I am so very sorry to hear of your loss. It was truly a pleasure working with your husband/father at Eakes. I can honestly say that he was the best boss I've ever had. On the occasions that I ran in to Brett he was always very quick to talk about "his girls". He was so very proud of all of you. He will be greatly missed.
