“ *The first thing I saw was her smile – warm, loving, accepting
The first time I visited her at home, we sat in the kitchen. The basement door was open. Suddenly, up the stairs hopped a frog! Without a pause in our conversation, she picked up the frog and kissed it!! That was my introduction to one of my favorite friends. And no, it did NOT turn into a handsome prince. (darn!) Jenny’s door was always open to anyone and her home was a comforting, loving place to be. I was so blessed to live right down the street where I could pop in to visit anytime. Even after I moved miles away, whenever we talked or visited, our friendship only deepened through time and distance. Jenny has an understanding, accepting heart. She lets God’s love pour through her. How I miss her!*

“ *Jenny Richardson was my Friend! Faithful and true to Christ Jesus and her family. Too many memories
To post just one " when we were in North Wales at the FGBMI conference, along with others she ministered prophetically over many who needed to hear the voice of God. That was Jenny, loving people more than her own fear she obeyed God and people's lives were changed.*
