December 22, 1940 - November 18, 2020

Larry R. Taylor, 79, of Grand Island passed away on Wednesday, November 18, 2020, at CHI Health St. Francis with his loving wife at his side.

Larry was born December 22, 1940, in La Grange, Illinois, the only child of Robert "Bob" and Marie (Rhinehart) Taylor. He had an entirely Catholic education beginning with Loyola Academy in Wilmette, IL, to Regis University in Denver, CO, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree. Larry then attended Northwestern University in Chicago, graduating with his Master's Degree in Business Administration.

On August 31, 1968, Larry married Judith H. Jelso.

He joined Chief Industries as a National Sales Manager in July of 1977. In 1982 he was promoted to Marketing Manager for the Automotive Division and then on to Manager of the Electronic Display Systems Division. Following Chief, he worked as General Manager at Paraclipse Insect Control of Columbus, NE for some fifteen years until retirement.

Larry was always striving to 'make a difference'. Young at heart and possessing a youthful spirit, he continually looked ahead...at what could be accomplished. He embraced life with great curiosity and enthusiasm, and had a love of flying as a hobby. He traveled extensively, both in the U.S. and Asia, developing many friendships along the way.

He loved his wife, his church, his country, and his neighbors and close friends with whom he shared his many interests. He also enjoyed his many cats over the years who gave him great joy.

His wife of 52 years, Judy Taylor, will forever cherish his memory. He was preceded in death by his parents.
