“ I knew Pam Malone for a short time, at CTCC in Hastings; she was funny, sweet, and a great gal to hang around with. She was, I believe, psychic as well. She would tell some of us, things she saw and heard around the campus. I believed her; you don't make this stuff up. When she met and married Terry Ott, I lost track of her. I'm so sad she didn't live a full, long life with her family. I have memories of her, in from the brief time I knew her.

Pam and I were first cousins. When we grew up we did lots of fun things together which Pam remembered better than I did. She had a Sharpe mind and was always laughing. I can still here here giggling and giving away our hiding places when we played hide and seek. She will be missed and I will miss the regular phone calls we use to have. I'm sure she will find ways of letting us know she is living life to its fullest in the glory of God's kingdom. Be open she will let us know she's around.
